

Notices, Filings, Documents + Testing for Group Benefits

This guide is to help you and your clients with the required federal annual notices distribution to employees, employer filings, plan documents, and nondiscrimination testing for group-sponsored benefit plans. There are several notices that require prominent placement, which are indicated in the table below.

Certain notices and documents may require customization; it is important to ensure the proper information about the plan is inserted into those particular sections of the notices or documents.

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS

The ACA requires group health plans and health insurance issuers to provide certain services and notices in a “culturally and linguistically appropriate manner.” Specifically, they are required to provide: (1) oral language services (such as a telephone assistance hotline) that include answering questions and providing assistance with filing claims and appeals in any “applicable” non-English language; (2) certain notices in any applicable non-English language, upon request; and (3) in the English versions of all notices, a statement prominently displayed in any applicable non-English language clearly indicating how to access the language services provided by the plan or issuer (so-called “taglines”).

For this purpose, a language is an “applicable” non-English language if at least 10% of the population residing in the participant’s or beneficiary’s county is literate only in the same non-English language, as determined by the United States Census Bureau. This information can be accessed at: <https://www.dol.gov/sites/dolgov/files/ebsa/laws-and-regulations/laws/affordable-care-act/for-employers-and-advisers/clas-county-data-2023.pdf>

Only certain notices are required at this time to be available in non-English languages; however, employers are encouraged to make as many notices and documents available in other languages so that employees may better understand their benefits plans and rights under the law. The notices that must be made available currently are: the Summary of Benefits & Coverages (SBC), the Uniform Glossary, and the model notices for internal claims and appeals, and external review.

*Review—This can be used as a checklist to review which notices, documents, and/or filings apply and can be indicated in the first column. For example, items not applicable to the group may be indicated with N/A, items that apply and are completed may be indicated with a check mark or Y, and items that apply but need to be done may be indicated with an X.

END NOTES

- [i] The Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008 (GINA) prohibits employers and other entities covered by GINA Title II from requesting or requiring genetic information of an individual or family member of the individual, except as specifically allowed by this law. To comply with this law, we are asking that you not provide any genetic information when responding to any requests for medical information, if applicable. 'Genetic information,' as defined by GINA, includes an individual's family medical history, the results of an individual's or family member's genetic tests, the fact that an individual or an individual's family member sought or received genetic services, and genetic information of a fetus carried by an individual or an individual's family member or an embryo lawfully held by an individual or family member receiving assistive reproductive services.
- [ii] Michelle's Law is a federal law that requires certain group health plans to continue eligibility for adult dependent children who are students attending a post-secondary school, where the children would otherwise cease to be considered eligible students due to a medically necessary leave of absence from school. In such a case, the Plan must continue to treat the child as eligible up to the earlier of:

- ✚ The date that is one year following the date the medically necessary leave of absence began; or the date coverage would otherwise terminate under the Plan.

For the protections of Michelle's Law to apply, the child must:

- ✚ Be a dependent child, under the terms of the Plan, of a participant or beneficiary; and
- ✚ Have been enrolled in the Plan, and as a student at a post-secondary educational institution, immediately preceding the first day of the medically necessary leave of absence.

“Medically necessary leave of absence” means any change in enrollment at the post-secondary school that begins while the child is suffering from a serious illness or injury, is medically necessary, and causes the child to lose student status for purposes of coverage under the Plan.

If you believe your child is eligible for this continued eligibility, you must provide to the Plan a written certification by his or her treating physician that the child is suffering from a serious illness or injury and that the leave of absence is medically necessary.

If you have any questions regarding the information contained in this notice or your child’s right to Michelle’s Law’s continued coverage, you should contact the Plan Administrator.

[iii] If you, or a dependent, are entitled to Medicare and have not elected Part A and Part B, the medical plan offered through <CARRIER NAME> will pay/will not pay secondary to Medicare, even if you are not enrolled in Medicare. This may also be called Medicare Estimation. In the event you are not enrolled in Medicare Part A and Part B, the medical plan will subtract from any services charged the amount that Medicare would have paid and then apply the benefits under the plan. In these circumstances, you will be responsible to pay the providers for the costs not covered under the plan.

[iv] Rescission notices must include the date of the notice, information about the insurance company and/or plan sponsor, information about the insured including plan or policy details, a clear statement that coverage will be rescinded, the retroactive date of the rescission, a detailed explanation of the reason for the rescission citing the specific instance of fraud or misrepresentation, a statement of the amount of premiums to be refunded based on the rescission date, information on how to appeal the decision and contact information for questions.
